General Education Online (GEO), a founding member of the Schoolforge Coalition in 2002, announced today that it is withdrawing from membership in the coalition.

GEO continues to operate several long-running initiatives to provide free and open resources to the education community, including findaschool.org, the Education Disaster Information System, International Education Resources, and Academic Web Information Repository.

GEO remains committed to providing free and open resources to students, researchers, and others – a commitment that continues to remain strong and resolute 11 years after the project's founding.
