

Commitment Remains Strong at GEO in 2009

Pensacola, FL (2009-02-04)

General Education Online (GEO) continues to provide multiple resources to the educational community through our various web properties. GEO remains committed to providing a quality, open resource stable portal to education information.

You may have noticed that our last press release was in 2007. There are many things happening behind the scenes development-wise that have pulled resources away from the normal press release responsibilities. As I've mentioned several times before, I remain committed to providing resources of both time and funding to continue operating GEO and our various web properties in the months, years, and decades ahead.

Stay tuned - 2009 will be an exciting year for our educational properties, including findaschool.org .
